DISCOVER THE TECHNOLOGY YOU NEED — AND WHY YOU NEED IT

Continuing care retirement communities (CCRCs), also known as life plan communities (LPCs), offer long-term care to seniors who wish to age in place as they progress through multiple levels of care. With a continuum of care being offered, residents access everything they require, as their needs evolve.

Communities typically include independent living, assisted living and skilled nursing care and they are For-Profit, Non-Profit and Not-for-Profit.

Regardless of which type of community you serve, it's crucial to recognize the value technology brings. Not only can the right solution equip you to streamline operations and optimize care services, but it also helps you save time, prevent errors and empower staff.

With a single connected solution like the Yardi Senior Living Suite, you can power your communities — all from a single platform.

In a survey of senior living leaders assessing technology, 1 in 3 respondents cited insufficient integration capabilities as a barrier to achieving comprehensive resident health management.<sup>1</sup>
